Market volatility: 3 tips to stay the course

Unforeseen events can disrupt the markets and cause big swings in the value of investments. Here are 3 tips for keeping your emotions in check in periods of market volatility.

Take a long-term view

When investing, time is your ally. The markets often deliver their best returns right after a correction. If you pull out while they're on a downswing, you'll miss out on the whole recovery, as well as some very promising opportunities. By taking a long-term view, you can break free from the current cycle faster and end up in a better financial position.

Make regular contributions

Continue making regular or automatic contributions to your group retirement savings plan. When the markets are down, each new contribution benefits from greater purchasing power.

Maintain a diversified portfolio

Diversified portfolios are more resilient during volatile periods; a portion of your investments is protected against major fluctuations. Remember that the investment funds in your retirement savings plan are designed to weather periods of volatility.

To learn more, watch our short educational video on market volatility available on the home page of the member site. You will find the address on the first page of this statement.

Plan for your future with On Target Retirement

To reach your financial goals, you need a realistic plan that takes your situation into account.

The On Target Retirement® goal tracker can help

Trying out different scenarios in the On Target Retirement goal tracker will give you a good idea of the savings you'll need to achieve your goals.

Where to find it

In the Omni app or on the member site under My account > My account details > On Target Retirement.

How it works

After entering some basic information in the On Target Retirement goal tracker, it will calculate your projected income and how much you'll need to contribute to reach your goal. As a result, you can be well-positioned to reach your short and long-term goals.

Take the time to explore different savings scenarios based on your goals. Your virtual guide Penny is there to guide you – she'll make suggestions based on your profile and the information you enter in On Target Retirement.

How we calculate your personal rates of return

We calculate your personal rates of return using the internal rate of return method. This method takes into account both the amount and timing of your contributions and withdrawals from your plan. Your personal rates of return may be different from the rates of return of your funds for several reasons. For instance, the timing of your contributions and withdrawals, and the deduction of fees from your plan, affect your personal rates of return.

The rates of return shown on your statement are annualized. This means that if the rate of return is for a period of more than one year, we've shown it as a yearly return. If the rate of return is for a period of less than one year, we've shown the actual rate of return for that period.

The value of your funds will increase or decrease, depending on the value of the investments held in your funds. Your personal rates of return are not a guarantee of future returns.

About the fees you pay

Management fees

Management fees are what you pay to Desjardins Insurance for services related to your Group retirement savings program. They're deducted monthly from each of your pooled fund balances (according to the percentage shown under Investments available for your plan, in the Paid by participant column).

Investment and operating fees

These fees cover the professional services of fund managers and the various expenses related to the operation of a pooled fund. More specifically, operating fees pay for costs associated with the buying and selling of securities in the funds, audits, unit value calculations and so on. They're typically[1] charged, along with applicable sales taxes, directly to the fund before the calculation of its unit value (according to the percentage shown under Investments available for your plan, in the Withdrawn from the fund column).

[1]Investment fees may be deducted monthly from each of your pooled fund balances. For example, this applies to most Series O funds (i.e. fund names ending with the letter O).

Administrative fees

You may also be charged administrative fees. The table below lists those applicable to certain additional services. These fees are proportionally deducted from your pooled funds (or if there's an insufficient balance, from your guaranteed funds).

Cash withdrawal or transfer to another financial institution (No charge for a transfer to a plan or product offered by Desjardins)	$25 per transaction*
Duplicate RRSP tax slip	$10
Duplicate RRSP tax receipt	$10
Retrieval of information from an archived file	$25
Account management of untraceable participant	$25

* These fees may vary according to your program.

Note: The fee structure under your program may differ from the above. Refer to the Summary of your Group retirement savings program for details and communicate with our Customer Contact Centre if you have any questions.
